HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

Glendale, Jan. 28, 1908.

In the Los Angeles Times of January 17 appears an article entitled, "They Draw Settlers," which states that "G. L. Ward has now fifteen families to his credit." Which statement appears rather ridiculous to some of those who were mentioned in his list, and who had lived in Glendale three, four and even five years before G. L. Ward arrived. Therefore for the benefit of those interested I would say that the first one of the company to arrive in Los Angeles was E. A. Turner, who came alone on November 20th, 1899. He was so delighted with Southern California that he almost immediately sent for his wife, who came two months later. Then in the Spring his cousin Luther Bishop and family came. The next October his daughters, Mrs. Frank Farrand and family arrived. Then Norman Varney, a nephew of Mrs. Turner came bringing his family. Soon followed by W. H. Burns with a family of seven, then Richard Lifton. In the Fall of 1903 W. H. Ward and wife, Josh Andrews and wife and Llewellyn Andrews arrived. These were followed the next year by Mrs. Andrews' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Varney. Then Mrs. Cross and two daughters. Then in November, 1905, came Mr. George Gillies, followed in a few months by Mrs. Gillies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant. Melby Varney came about a year ago, and last November John, Thomas and Richard Adison, Oscar Bishop, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Frank Smith and Mr. Morrill, lastly, Mrs. Archie Kelley. These people all related and coming from the province of Quebec, Canada, making in all about seventy Canadians who are now residing in or near Glendale. Last March Mr. E. W. Farrand, brother of F. M. Farrand, with his family of five came from Vermont.

E. A. Turner and wife claim the credit of populating Glendale and vicinity to the extent of seventy souls.

Mrs. Turner has four sisters in the bunch. Mrs. Henry Ward, Mrs. George Ward. Mrs. John Addison and Mrs. Archibald Kelley.

WHY SHOULD WE PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS?

An Answer to the Article in Last Week's Independent.

To the Editor of the News:

None of the merchants of Glendale need be downcast and disheartened from the small amount of local patronage, for the way is clear for them to get all of the patronage of the valley.

It is not a "fad" as expressed in last week's paper for residents to "trot" or gallop to Los Angeles for goods—it is a frugal measure, and a necessity. In the grocery line, potatoes can be bought for one-third less in the city than our "Enterprising" merchants, with two-thirds less rents to pay charge us here; from 4 to 5 pounds of sugar more, are given for a dollar in Los Angeles than we are charged here. Butter is cheaper by ten cents a pound. The butchers here take their little whack at us and charge us in the same proportion, and in quality and quantity there is no comparison, as we are charged for bones and untrimmed meat, and the butcher's finger always weighs three ounces. The other tradespeople charge us more than we can buy in Los Angeles for—not the penny more, as instanced in your article, but in some instances from 25 cents to 50 cents more on an article of any value.

These local tradespeople are always to the fore with complaints about lack of patronage, yet they are never known to advertise the price of their wares in the local newspapers. When they do advertise, which is seldom, they are satisfied with a business card which tells us they are here, a fact which we all know, but never is any particular inducement in the way of price offered for our trade. They huddle along Glendale avenue and Fourth street, forgetting that there are lots of folks who live in Lomita Park, North Glendale and the Central avenue district who would occasionally if not often drop in, were it not for the fact that it is further to reach their stores than to take a car to Los Angeles where in spite of almost prohibtive rents, the business men are able to undersell the local business men. It is high time the business men came to the conclusion that along the trolley way in every city, is the place to do business and that those who live west of the car tracks are not going to go out of their way to patronize our business men unless they advertise with large "ads" giving prices and special bargains to the valley folks as the city merchants do.

You say these stores will not always remain here. Well it will be a blessing when some of them go and up-to-date business men take their places who attempt to get business. Our merchants are entirely too independent. They do not care whether they have our patronage or not or they would cater to us. Recently the writer was in a butcher ship on Glendale, when the proprietor said to his clerk, "Get a two-pound sirloin out for ——." They called up for it a couple of hours ago. I did not attend to it because I suppose they want it for dinner after awhile." The clerk took his time and after cutting it, it proved two ounces over the two pounds and when the clerk asked should be collect for the extra two ounces, the butcher assured him that he should always charge it if it were but one-half ounce over. Now when folks order things they want them at once, and no tradesman should "suppose" anything, and when a business man insists on the "pound of flesh" it is a cinch he will not be permitted to extract the "single drop of blood," as Shakespeare says, in the way of favors from the buying public of our city.

RESIDENT OF GLENDALE.

A NEW ELECTION PRECINCT.

New Registration Necessary.

The Tropico election precinct has been created by the supervisors. The new maps are not yet available, but it is understood that the new precinct embraces all of the old Glendale precinct outside the corporation of Glendale, which will be a precinct by itself. All the voters are required to get their names on the new register in order to be qualified to vote at the coming elections. The municipal election occurs in April and voters must be registered twenty-five days prior to election. A local deputy for Glendale will be appointed about February 10th, so that there will be ample time for all to register after that date without being compelled to go to Los Angeles. Registration can be made at the courthouse in Los Angeles at any time, however.

AT THE GLENDALE LIBRARY.

The Church Periodical Club library which has been an interesting adjunct to the circulation of the Glendale library will be replaced in a few days by a new one of these libraries, which are sent out by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles and which are made up of the best class of literature, carefully and conscientiously chosen by those having this work in charge.

The new books at the library continue remarkably popular. Two of them are reviewed below:

"The Cuban and Porto Rican Campaign," By Richard Harding Davis.

This is a graphic and thrilling account by that authentic and renowned war corespondent of this stirring epoch in the history of our country and will prove of absorbing interest to all readers and especially men and boys. His chapter on the "Rocking Chair Period," which treats of the weeks spent at the magnificent Tampa Bay hotel, where the officers of the army, foreign diplomats, war correspondents and many dignitaries spent restless weeks rocking on piazzas, anxiously awaiting the command to invade Cuba, vividly recalls to the memory of the writer the unusual and splendid scenes viewed at that time and place. Gold lace and brass buttons and swords and inspiring regimental band music and elegantly gowned women and the honored leaders, including unostentatious Wheeler, huge Shafter, who took his daily airing half a block from our home, tall and splendid and handsome General Miles, the most commanding of them all and every inch a leader he looked, and Richard Harding Davis himself, who, because of having gone to Tampa in the very driest and hottest time of all the Florida year, made unwarranted, disagreeable remarks about the city—all this and much more made a brilliant and ever remembered picture on the mind of the writer, who remembers also visiting Roosevelt's camp the morning after his arrival in Tampa, going aboard the transports at Port Tampa and visiting the hospital tents after the fateful battle. The book is interestingly illustrated by photographs made by Mr. Davis and has been read with unusual interest throughout the country, as it no doubt will be in Glendale.

"A Last Leader," By E. Phillips Oppenheim.

This is a supposed story of modern political life in England and one is reminded in reading it of Lord Beaconsfield's "Endymion." In the hero the author depicts the painful self abnegation of a great soul in the strenuous performance of conceived duties to individuals and humanity, while it shows the insistent demands of the human heart for sympathy and affection and the barrenness of life without it. The portrayal of human nature shows a keen estimate of that potent factor in the development of mankind and in reading one almost forgets the clear, concise, forceful and yet remarkably fluent style of expression of this author in the fascination which the use of it, in describing the interesting plot and scenes exerts upon the mind.

To be good, must be safe. A savings account in the Bank of Glendale offers you absolute security, not only because all loans are made to responsible people of Glendale or on Glendale real estate, but because its board of directors who approve all loans are from our best and most conservative business men, and whose judgment may be depended on to protect the interest of its depositors. 37tf

GLENDALE, CAL., FEBRUARY 1, 1908

The Board of Aldermen of the City of New York have decreed that no woman shall be allowed to smoke in any licensed public place in that virtuous municipality.

Luisa Tetrazzini, the Italian singer, scored a great success in New York in "La Traviata." She was called before the curtain twelve times amid scenes of great excitement.

A New York man doused his wife with cold water as she lay in bed, because her talk prevented him from sleeping. Then when brought before the Recorder he was sentenced to sixty days. "Oh Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!"

In the New York legislature Mr. Mance introduced a bill the other day ordering Bible readings every morning in the public schools, and Assemblyman Geoghans another permitting the playing of baseball by amateurs from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday. Thus the attempt to make the old world better from different points of view, goes merrily on!

A woman editor in Iowa, taking advantage of her leap-year privilege, proposed in the columns of her paper to marry any good printer who would agree to fight her battles and run the print shop. The editor of the rival sheet in the town accepted her proposal at sight and at last accounts the two papers were going to combine in getting out a "millennium number."

The Crop Outlook

The abundant rainfall of the past week has assured a full crop of hay at least in Southern California with probabilities in favor of a heavy yield of grain. The thorough drenching which the earth has received will go far toward making the deciduous fruit crop a heavy one while for the grower of citrus fruits the problem of irrigation is greatly simplified. There should be a general upturning of the soil now and a planting of crops of vegetables by every one who has a foot of ground to devote to that purpose. It is yet too early for general planting of vegetables but it is not too early to commence getting the ground in proper condition. Our light sandy soil is excellent for small fruits and vegetables, but it will do much better if enriched at this season, before the rains are over, by a liberal dressing of fertilizer from the stable and cow yard. The wastes of vacant lots should be transformed into gardens and thus made infinitely useful as well as attractive.

The Penalities of Improvidence

We heard the other day of a man, a skilled mechanic, who has had almost steady employment for two or three years past, but who now finds himself almost penniless because for a fortnight he has had no work. This man has been receiving good wages, three or four dollars per day and with no doctor bills or other unusual expenses, finds himself now an object of charity, because for a few days he can find no employment.

It is a case typical of very many; the political economist who would have the whole world run on some stereotyped plan which would abolish poverty and give to everyone just what he requires and allow no one a surplus, runs up against instances of this kind every now and again, which tend to make his theory look as if it had attempted to surmount the insurmountable and had been run over by the irresistible. A large number of the human family appear to be unable to look ahead and provide in the time of plenty for the "rainy day" which almost inevitably comes. The question of wages and hours of labor sinks into insignificance compared with the more important and vital question of how to best use that which we have. The probability is that our friend who found it impossible to save anything out of the very fair wages that he received, would have found it equally difficult to have saved anything had his receipts been doubled.

If some of our well meaning reformers who would make the world better by wholesale methods, should devote themselves to the teaching of the individual the lessons of thrift which would lead to the giving to tomorrow its portion of the proceeds of today, the world would rapidly move on to higher things.

Reclamation of Swamp Lands

A dispatch from Washington says that a conference of great importance has been held there to consider the question of swamp drainage in various states of the union. This is a question of immense importance to California. Along the Sacramento river there are over a million acres of the richest lands in the world, subject every winter to overflow which make an immense waste of what might be made a garden. Thousands of acres of this land have been reclaimed and converted into productive farms of great fertility, but the owners have no assurance from year to year that the next freshet will not sweep the work of years away.

The problem of the drainage of this immense territory through which flows the accumulated waters from the melting snows of the Sierras and of the heavy rainfall of the upper Sacramento valley for two hundred miles, is a tremendous one and has engaged the best engineering minds of the country in times past without as yet having been satisfactorily solved.

One bad feature of the case is the fact that the land is held by private owners who are not able themselves to reclaim it and do not seem willing to forego any of the profits of its ultimate reclamation. Every session of legislature and of congress is attended by their lobbyists attempting to get the work done by the state and the government. The dispatch quoted above states further that a measure will be introduced providing that the proceeds of the sale of public lands in certain states be used for the work of reclamation. It is further proposed that the government be reimbursed for the expense incurred. There does not yet appear to be any attempt made to reclaim these lands on some basis which will insure their passing into the hands of actual settlers. Apparently it is proposed that there be no change of ownership, but that the great tracts of from five to twenty thousand acres remain as at present the property of a few individuals and companies.

It would seem possible that a scheme might be devised whereby the reclamation might be made by the general government, the state and the individual jointly under an arrangement for ownership by the general government and the state of two-thirds of the land reclaimed, the individual owner retaining a one-third interest. This would insure the opening of the land to small owners instead of allowing the continued existence of the present monopoly.

Much of this land has been held for many years by the original settlers of that portion of California and their heirs, who will not dispose of an acre of it, but who live in hope of its being reclaimed by either the state or the general government, in which event they will be millionaires.

Recent Supreme Court Decisions of Local Interest

The press dispatches recently announced that the Supreme Court of the state had handed down two decisions in reference to water rights which are of great importance to the people of this immediate neighborhood.

The first was in regard to the case of the City of Los Angeles versus the settlers in the San Fernando Valley who have been pumping water from wells on their own land. It will be remembered that nearly two years ago, Judge Gibbs of the Superior Court decided in favor of the city and injunctions were ordered to be issued against the ranchmen. It is now stated that the higher court has affirmed this decision. It is generally believed that the anxiety of the officials of the city of Los Angeles to get this decision was based, not upon actual necessity, but upon a desire to use it as an asset to enable the municipality to float the Owens River bonds. That the decision was unjust is an opinion which the private citizen is at liberty to entertain and even express, and private citizens generally have not been chary of expressing it. It is now reported that the decision is upheld by the higher court. As a matter of fact, the ranchers have not been compelled to stop pumping, and the probability is that they will not be. The city is vested now with full power to step in and enjoin them, but there is reason to believe that it will not do so as long as the necessity for such action does not exist. The essential fact in the controversy, regardless of any decision of the courts, is that with the increase of the pumping plants there has been an increase of the general water supply. Perhaps it is not possible to demonstrate that this is a result of the work done by the pumps in bringing water up from the levels below the water plane of the river, but it is reasonable to infer that this is precisely what the result has been.

The second decision is one covering the case of the Verdugo Canyon Water Company versus Verdugo and others. The press dispatches report that the ruling of the lower court is affirmed, but a letter from Judge Works, attorney for the water company, states just the reverse. The probability is that the higher court gives a decision which approves the lower court in some respects and reverses it in others.

This was a case in which the Verdugo Canyon Water Company, representing the landowners of this vicinity, brought suit against Verdugo, Ross, Thom and others to prevent them from taking water by wells from the land immediatcly above the company's property in Verdugo Canyon.

The decision of the Superior Court was somewhat mixed, allowing Judge Ross and Verdugo to pump water out above the company's property to be used on their land in the canyon only. It was a victory for the company in that it prevented anyone from pumping water for the purpose of applying it anywhere else than within the canyon limits.

Just what the Supreme Court's decision is, is a matter of great importance to the people of Glendale and Tropico. Should it be to the effect that any landowner above the land of the water company in Verdugo Canyon can take water out which feeds the supply of the company, it would be a very serious menace to our water right. It would seem very inconsistent upon the part of the Supreme Court to decide in the first case that the landowners shall not take water out of their own land, and in the second instance that they may do so.

Meanwhile, our people should be aroused to the necessity of being more alert in regard to water matters than they have been in times past. The annual meeting of our main water company (the Verdugo Canyon Water Co.) is frequently allowed to lapse without a quorum being present, and the majority of our comparatively new comers and many of the older ones are almost completely ignorant about existing conditions in regard to our water and water rights.

Mrs. J. H. Pankey of Covina, and Mr. Ed. Bercaw of El Toro, have been visiting their mother, Mrs. S. W. Bercaw.

Mrs. W. C. Fraley is seriously ill with pneumonia at her home on Glendale avenue. Her many friends are anxious about her condition, but hope for her rapid recovery.

Mrs. Hasselmann of Indianapolis, who with her family is sojourning for the winter in Glendale, has been suffering with a serious attack of the grip, but is now convalescent.

Mrs. Dr. A. L. Bryant rendered an especially appropriate solo, in her usual pleasing manner. Those who stayed from the service on account of the weather missed a rare treat.

Dr. A. S. Bryant "chaperoned" a party on Tuesday night at the Simpson Auditorium where Kubelik was the attraction. A goodly number of Glendalians went to hear the music despite the rain because, as the Dr. said, "They had tickets and had to."

Dr. E. J. Barabe, lately of Houghton, Mich., where he has been in practice for two or three years, has opened a dental office in his residence in the Mrs. Chase house, Fourth street near the Episcopal church. Dr. Barabe is prepared to do all classes of dental work with "neatness and dispatch."

Reverend J. R. Jackson of Silver City, New Mexico, preached to an appreciative audience on Sunday morning in the Methodist Church, taking a line of thought entirely new to many, which was delivered largely in italics, the entire sermon being crisp with the pith of logic and the quality of appeal.

D. D. Fitch, president of the Young People's Missionary Volunteer Society, with headquarters at the Sanitarium, tells us that there are 566 dwellings in Glendale. The society which he represents has recently presented each of these homes with a copy of a neat little magazine called the "Youth's Instructor."

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Benson, Sixth street, this week entertained old-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevens of Ill., whom they had not seen in many years. They were friends and school-mates when very little children. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will spend some time in Los Angeles.

More relatives arrived to the credit of one of our most active population-boomers! On Thursday morning a sister and brother-in-law of Henry Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. William Marsden Johnston, arrived in Glendale, Mrs. Johnston to remain in our city with relatives while her husband makes a business trip to Alaska. He expects to start in about two weeks.

Prof. R. M. Robinson (formerly with Wiley B. Allen Co. and the Bartlett Music Company), whose headquarters are now at 535 South Broadway, Los Angeles, but who resides at Tropico, called at the News office this week. Prof. Robinson is very successful in the business of piano tuning and expects to be kept busy a great part of his time henceforth, in this neighborhood. His announcement appears elsewhere.

The Martha Washington Tea, which was to have been given on Thursday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall, was on Tuesday indefinitely postponed by the committee on arrangements, owing to illness of some of the members and the bad weather. Many very handsome costumes had been planned for the affair and especially good music had been engaged. It was to have been quite the "social event" of the winter for the Tuesday Afternoon Club members and friends.

Kennard I. Allard, a young man 21 years of age, a nephew of Mr. Cecil E. Shaver, died at Mr. Shaver's residence last Sunday morning, of Pericarditis (heart trouble). The young man had been sick for nearly a year and came here about three months ago from Eureka, Cal. He seemed to be improving until within a few days before his death. His mother had been telegraphed to and arrived the day after his death. There was a short service at the house, Rev. N. J. Burton officiating, and on Tuesday evening, the mother left with the body for Eureka.

Elder F. C. Gilbert, a Christian Jew, gave a very interesting discourse at the Sanitarium gymnasium Sunday evening. He spoke of the exalted place once held by the Jews and how by their falling other nations had been benefited. He showed the reason why Jews hate the Christian religion. One reason being that in olden times in Morocco and other countries and now in Russia that the massacre of Jews is done in the name of Christ. He stated that some of these Christian (?) murderers of the Jews will at the same time sing Christian songs, having the crucifix in the left hand and a sword in the right. What wonder they do not love the religion of Jesus.

Mrs. Olive Nelson on Wednesday sold to Mr. William Lee her house completed less than a year ago, and two lots on Cedar street between First and Second streets, consideration $4000. Mr. Lee purchased the property, which adjoins his own home place, for the occupancy of his son, Mr. Ed Lee and family. The property, in point of style and location, is considered as fine as any in the city and Mrs. Nelson has had several offers for it of late.

On the 1st of March Mr. Nelson and family will move to the house they have purchased on Cedar between second and Third streets. This is being handsomely remodeled, painted and papered in the most approved style to date, this is the fourth house Mrs. Nelson has placed on the market and disposed of most satisfactorily.

A bright and charming hostess was Mrs. Emma Birket, when, on Thursday evening, she splendidly entertained with an elaborately-planned duck-dinner to honor the birthday of her beloved aunt, Mrs. Josephine Bryant. Daintily decorated in blossoms of white callas and snowy marguerites, the rooms of the pretty bungalow on Fifth street bespoke genial hospitality to the happy guests, consisting of the families of Mrs. Birket, Dr. A. L. Bryant, R. D. Goss, Henry Johnston, W. M. Johnston, Mr. Barnard, J. R. Jackson, E. V. Emery, H P. Smith, ect., ect., ect.

Minutes of first meeting of committee appointed by trustees of Glendale City Council to organize volunteer fire companies.

Deal, Sternberg, Nelson and Fitch present.

Deal appointed chairman; Fitch secretary.

Your committee respectfully submit the following plans for immediate organization. Each of the four committee men present to organize a company of eight men. They to select their own captain and officers. Thus there would be four volunteer fire companies; two for the hose cart and two for the hose wagon. These companies to practice separately, but act conjointly in case of fire.

The above plan of organization to be in effect from this time on until the city shall have caused to come into effect a more thorough organization.

Your committee would respectfully recommend the immediate employment of a fire chief and the purchase of the following supplies:

1 Ceiling Hook, one-half dozen hydrant wrenches, 3 axes, shut off nozzles, 50 feet half-inch rope, 1 dozen rubber coats.

The latter to have name of fire company painted in red on the back.

We would also recommend that a fire bell be placed on the building over the fire wagon, at once. Also that the city engineer furnish a map to each of the four companies, showing location of hydrants.

Committee meeting adjourned until 2 p. m. Thursday, January 30th, when the said committee men will meet for the purpose of making a tour of the larger buildings of the city, to acquaint themselves with existing conditions.

THE PACIFIC ELECTRIC TRIES AN EXPERIMENT.

The Pacific Electric Railway company tried a forty-five minute service between Los Angeles and Glendale for two days of this week, but it failed to work. During the greater part of the day there were from seventy-five to ninety passengers on every car. On Thursday the thirty-minute service was resumed.

In speaking of the matter, one of the employes of the company stated that the Glendale line is one of the best patronized of all the interurban lines, that the average of passengers carried per car is higher than on any of the other branches. All of which goes to show that our community is growing in population and consequent importance day by day. It is not pleasant to have to stand up on overcrowded cars mornings and evenings, a common experience of those who fail to get the first seats, but there is a measure of consolation in the fact that the act gives evidence of the community's growing importance. We hope that the company will restore the fifteen-minute service during the busy hours morning and evening, which proved so satisfactory to its patrons while in operation. Why the forty-five-minute experiment had to be tried to establish a self-evident fact, is one of those Dundrearyisms that "no fellow can find out."

SHOT HIMSELF FOR FUN.

Joe Bishop, who will be remembered as having run the Boulevard Meat Store at one time and who has for some time past been conducting a "grocery" on the San Fernando road, West Glendale, was brought to the Sanitarium about seven o'clock last Wednesday evening in charge of Dr. Thompson of Burbank to have two or three bullets extracted which he had recklessly fired into himself" for "fun," according to his reply when questioned. Two of the balls entered the breast over the heart, both of them passing through and falling out while the body was being moved. One of the ribs was broken, but by a very narrow margin the heart was not touched; another bullet fired into the right side did not penetrate far enough to make a serious wound.

On Friday morning, however, the man died. He had made his will in favor of his wife. The coroner held an inquest Friday afternoon and on the evidence of Mr. Pulliam, the undertaker, and one or two other witnesses, declared himself satisfied that the facts were as stated above. No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made.

Mrs. Cushing, owing to the inclemency of the weather, has been quite ill since her return to Tropico but is reported as very much improved at present.

A very delightful social was held at the home of Mrs. Carmack last Friday evening. There were thirty-six present. The evening was spent in playing games and charades.

Among the charming social events of the past week was the luncheon given by Miss Harriet T. Myers at her home, "Beth-Eden" Saturday afternoon. The drawing room of this pretty villa was daintily decorated in violets and white hyacinths, with trailing greenery. The large cosey dining room presented a bower of fragrance and bloom in its decorations of English ivy and marguerites. The place cards were most unique as well as original, being dainty "wish bones" tied with a spray of ivy green. Miss Myers was charmingly assisted in the entertainment of her guests by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Myers. Those accepting the hospitality of "Beth-Eden" villa were Mrs. Samuel Wallace and Miss Adena Wallace of Pasadena; Miss William Reehl of South Pasadena, Miss Edna Lobdell, Miss Ida D. Two rooms of this quaint old Casa were decorated most profusely in honor of the hostess' guests in Spanish and Indian curios and relics. Old Indian pottery of various designs was arranged most artistically throughout the rooms. Quantities of yellow hued acacia blossoms formed the table decorations, which were so arranged on the damask as to form an oriental design.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

This has been a busy week on account of the mid-winter examinations and the preparation of report cards which were issued to the students Tuesday.

It is rather quiet in athletics at present. The Girls' Basket Ball game with the Whittier team was postponed indefinitely last Saturday on account of the weather. Today they go to Alhambra for a game with the team there.

A new county league is to be formed, to be known as the Rural Schools league, the membership of which will probably be limited to those schools having less than 200 pupils. It is thought that this plan will make competition among the schools more nearly equal than at present, as it is very hard for the smaller schools to compete with the teams selected from the large membership of the Los Angeles High and the Polytechnic, who can so easily select experienced members for their teams and who can have the advantage of having old college men for coaches. There are nine schools entered at present. Prof. Howe has been elected treasurer and secretary of the new league.

A number of townspeople have encouraged the boys to start a campaign for the raising of funds to purchase suits and other property for the baseball team. As this is the first year that there has been a High School Baseball team, it is necessary to get everything in the way of equipment. The boys will prepare the subscription papers at once and endeavor to get the requisite funds.

It is hoped that the Benefit performance to be given this evening for the purpose of putting funds in the treasury of the Athletic society, will be well patronized, as it will be a strictly first-class performance.

The students who have been kept at home nursing the measles for the past ten days or more, are all convalescing and there have been no new cases.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A high class entertainment will be given at the High School this evening at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the Athletic Association of the school. The entertainers will be the Potter Sisters, who come to Glendale with exceptionally high recommendations from Robert J. Burdette, Robert T. Lincoln, and such journals as the Boston Advertiser, the New York Tribune, Chicago Tribune, etc. They have given their impersonations before large audiences in the most important cities and our people should show their appreciation and their interest in the young people for whose benefit the entertainment is given, by crowding the auditorium to its limit.

IMPORTANT TO P. E. O's.

The, deferred reception, which was to have taken place on Monday, occurred on Wednesday afternoon in the spacious home of Mrs. Josephine Bryant, when the colors of Chapter L, yellow and white, were most effectively and artistically employed in decoration for the long planned for occasion, calla lillies and yellow marguerites being used. State Organizer Mrs. Laura Joyce and a guest, Mrs. Rannellson, were present from Los Angeles. Following an arduous inspection was a splendid talk from Mrs. Joyce along the lines of general P. E. O. work and Mrs. Rannellson favored the Chapter with a few terse remarks. There followed a brief program and during the pleasant social hour a most dainty repast.
